4-H Dairy Youth Fitting & Showing Clinic
Saturday, May 7
9:00 am to 3:00 pm
Outagamie County Fairgrounds, Seymour

Come and learn from Katie Coyne, owner of Mill Wheel Farm Dairy Show Clinics! You will learn how to show, fit, feed, prepare, judge and develop show-winning animals.

Cost: $15 per youth for clinic (no clinic charge for adults)
$6 for lunch per person (youth and adults) Enjoy Domino's pizza and Two Guernsey Girls Creamery milk! or bring your own bag lunch. All costs pre-paid using the registration form below. Water will be provided by Cheryl O'Connell.

Registration deadline: April 27. Minimum of 25 participants, maximum of 40. Return the form below to Extension Outagamie County, Attn: Dairy Fitting Clinic, 3365 W Brewster St, Appleton, WI 54914.

Training starts promptly at 9:30 am. Please arrive with your animal by 9:00 am. Bring your project animal to practice fitting and showing skills. Youth are encouraged to bring whites for showmanship. Recognition will be given to the top showman for the day and the most improved for the day. Please wash your animal the night before the clinic and have the head and legs of your animal clipped prior to the clinic. Katie will help with top lines and belly hair. Notes: Youth who wish to share a calf to work on must arrange this prior to the clinic. No washing of project animals during the clinic.

Items for youth to bring: Clippers, topline brush, blower, show halter, bag of shavings for bedding, whites, hay, water bucket, fork or shovel for manure, any other supplies needed.

Thank you to Weaver Livestock and Cargill for their support.

Katie Coyne
owner, Mill Wheel Dairy Show Clinics

Katie and her family have bred and developed, owned and shown numerous All-American and Junior All-American nominations in several breeds. Katie is the Fitting and Showmanship superintendent at the World Dairy Expo and developed the first ever showmanship judges conference in the United States in 2018. Katie is a judging team coach and has judged shows for over 30 years at local, state, and national levels. She has attended two Holstein Ontario judging conferences and is applying for inclusion on that judging list. She has been on the Holstein USA judges list since its inception.
